THE NORTHFIELD HOTEL
Where Many Improvements Have Been Made for the Service and Convenience of its Guests

Hotel Improved; Visitors Invited

The townspeople are cordially invited to take advantage of some of the improvements which have been made at The Northfield Hotel in the past two or three years. Changes have been made in the house itself, on the estate and even in the garage.

For instance, there is the new indoor game room, with a ping-pong table, shuffleboard, radio, card tables for Bridge and Monopoly, and many other indoor games. It's a grand place to spend a pleasant rainy day or evening.

Then the golf course has been lengthened and is in excellent condition right now. The nine holes are not too tough for the novice or too tame for the seasoned golfer. At Raymond is expected about the middle of the month to take up his duties as the professional.

The two new Nature Trails are attracting many visitors. There is the one which begins at the Caddy House (one mile circuit) which is in itself an education in nature lore. Its guiding labels on trees and rocks and ferns are "the voice of a friend somewhat versed in natural history, who wishes to tell you some interesting things," as the first label reads. Then there is a second Trail starting at the south side of The Chateau, following a fern-hung brook to The Old Grist Mill and Northfield's only waterfall. Mr. Maurice Broun, the naturalist who laid out these two trails, has also made a list of 101 birds seen in Northfield during the month of May. Some of these are very unusual, such as an adult bald eagle which flew over the hotel on May 11, and the list is an interesting one to study. To be seen on the sun-porch of The Northfield right near an entertaining electrical game where one can test his knowledge of common birds and wildflowers.

This spring the Hotel Garage installed a new grease-lift which greatly facilitates a more complete and efficient job in the greasing of both large trucks and small cars.

The Clock Golf layout is being kept in fine condition and it is a really tricky green on which to perfect one's putting. The tennis courts and the croquet game are still very popular.

The South Porch of the Hotel has been extended and steps have been built leading onto the grounds near the golf course. Almost any sunny afternoon many of the guests will be seen taking

Will Hold A Picnic At Packard Heights

The Sunday School of the Congregational church will hold its annual picnic and outing again this year at Packard Heights on Wednesday, June 18. The Brotherhood will unite to hold their picnic at the same place on the same day and the event is being looked to with much interest.

The committee in charge consists of Harry James, Lawrence Lazelle, Charles Mayberry, Geo. W. Carr and Lloyd Marcy.

The start will be made at ten o'clock from the church and dinner arranged as in previous years at noon. The afternoon will be spent in games and sports of various kinds.

Bids Are Invited For Local Postoffice

A notice has been posted in the Northfield postoffice inviting bids for the lease of approximately 800 square feet of floor space with all the appurtenances needed for the Northfield postoffice. The lease may be for five to ten years beginning Oct. 1, 1936. Bids must be in by the 20th of this month. The notice is issued by R. D. Wetherell, Postoffice Inspector of Boston. It is understood that already four or five locations are to be considered.

Wedding Bells

The marriage of Miss Gladys W. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Miller of Tabor W. Polhemus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Polhemus, will take place in Sage Chapel on the Seminary Campus on Saturday afternoon, June 27 at 4 o'clock. On Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock July 1, in Grace Episcopal church at Syracuse, N. Y., Mr. Richard P. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller will be married to Miss Faith Moran, daughter of the late Judge Moran and his wife Mrs. Moran of that city. Miss Moran is a niece of Mrs. Allen H. Wright of this town.

The Franklin County Women's Republican Club will hold a big get-together meeting at Lake Rohunta on Wednesday, July 8.

advantage of the sun on this side of the house, relaxing in the colorful new beach chairs.

There are many opportunities open at the hotel for outdoor and indoor recreation, relaxation and real pleasure, and the townspeople are assured of a welcome.

Officials Retired At Mount Hermon

The retirement of Mr. Stephen Allen Norton, cashier of Mount Hermon school for the past 24 years, and Mr. Spurgeon Gage, acting head of the Science Department, and member of the Mount Hermon faculty for the past 22 years, will occur at the close of the present school year.

Mr. Norton, a familiar figure in the administration building of the school, was graduated from Wesleyan University in the class of 1897, where he also met his wife, Grace Bunnell of Wesleyan. The Nortons have lived in the old South Farmhouse on the campus, which was one of the first buildings to be used as a part of the school by D. L. Moody.

Three sons are graduates of Mt. Hermon and also Yale. Richard, Mt. Hermon '18, Yale '22, Yale Medical '25, is now practicing medicine at Michigan City, Ind. William, Mt. Hermon '21, Yale '25, has been an instructor in History at Boston University since 1927. John, Mt. Hermon '27, Yale '31, studied a year at Oxford, after which he specialized in Library work, and is now a member of the staff of the Yale Sterling Memorial Library.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Norton have been active in church and missionary work and their loyalty to Wesleyan, their alma mater, has always been marked. At a surprise party of residents of the Hill, a purse of money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Norton, the speech being made by Mr. Stark. Their future plans have not yet been made.

Mr. Gage is a graduate of Mt. Hermon in the class of 1912, and after some study at the College of Engineering at Syracuse, returned to Mt. Hermon in 1914 at the request of Principal Henry F. Cutler, now Emeritus, and a medical student at the Sorbonne, Paris. For many years Mr. Gage together with Mrs. Gage, lived in Overton Hall, where they were in charge of that dormitory.

About ten years ago the Gages bought a house at East Northfield, where they have resided ever since. Mr. Gage continuing his teaching and executive work as head of the Science department. They are planning to take up residence in Orlando, Fla., where the climate is more conducive to Mr. Gage's health.

Mr. Gage has been active at Hermon in church work and has also carried on preaching activities in neighboring towns for many years. This present year he has travelled over 2,000 miles in the capacity of secretary of the New England Chemistry association. From 1931 to 1933 Mr. Gage was assistant dean of the school, and for the past few years he has been co-chairman of the advisory board of the school.

To Prof. and Mrs. Gage a very substantial remembrance was made.

Girls' Conference

June 22 to 29

Dean Howard C. Robbins of the General Theological Seminary, New York, will sound the keynote of the Girls' Conference in the daily conference hour when he will speak on the subject, "God and the Ultimate Values." Dr. Robbins, who was formerly Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, comes to Northfield for the first time. Another newcomer will be Dr. Lewis Hodous, professor of history and philosophy of religion at Hartford Theological Seminary, who will conduct courses in "Personal Relations" and "Living Religions."

170 Graduates Given Diplomas At Mount Hermon

The largest class in the history of Mount Hermon school was graduated on Monday. This was the 50th commencement season at this school.

Dressed in the traditional cap and gown the 170 seniors marched in dignified procession down the center aisle of Memorial chapel to the tune of Mendelssohn's "March of the Priests." The procession was preceded by the dignitaries seated in the chancel, Headmaster David R. Porter; Dr. Austin McCormick, commissioner of correction in the administration of Mayor LaGuardia of New York City; Nelson A. Jackson, director of scholarships; Rev. Lester P. White, minister of the Mount Hermon church; and Arthur D. Platt, class teacher of the class of 1936.

The marshals were Frank Tucker, president of the student council for 1937 and Richard Buck, president of the class of 1936.

The traditional spade oration, dating back to the class of 1889, and presented each commencement day, was given by Robert Wise of Toledo, and the speech of acceptance was made by President Richard Buck.

The address was delivered by Dr. McCormick. He said in part:

"Crime is a problem of youth. The age of the typical robber today is 19 and that of the burglar is 18. More people are arrested at the age of 19 than at any other age."

"Over 60,000 men and women occupy the institutions that come under the direction of my office. Some come back to serve their 50th sentence."

"If responsible men and women today cannot work out a more satisfactory solution to the problem of crime than we have in America today, then our education is a failure."

"The newspaper publicity about crime gives an utterly false conception of the underlying causes of crime and its solution. You can't hang, burn, or electrocute crime out of existence."

"What can be done about the solution of crime? We can meet the problem with intelligence and not sentimentality or hardness. We must study the underlying causes of crime. Secondly, if the people really wanted to do it the slums could quickly be abolished, decent homes be created for the people to live in, and a chance in life be given to the children who roam the streets and become the criminals of tomorrow."

"In order to accomplish this great task of abolishing crime, youth needs unselfishness. Moral courage is better than physical courage. In the face of disappointment and defeat, the moral courage to persist is essential. Ordinary honesty in business, and above all unselfishness, are qualities that will make a new world, one which is based on the principles of Jesus Christ."

The list of graduates follows: Thomas F. Johnson, James R. MacLean, George A. Pease, Jr., John H. MacLeod, David W. Kannaly, Paul G. Saurwein, Donald H. Moore, Robert C. Atwood, Edward N. Ellis, Robert H. Laughlin, Lyman W. Thomas, Lawrence L. Durgin, Samuel L. McCullough, Gardner W. MacKenzie, Anthony Jurgilewicz, Herbert Jauch, Beaman O. Woodard, Robert W. McKinley, Lawrence A. Baccalaureates At The Seminary And Mount Hermon

Baccalaureate Sunday was observed at both the Northfield Seminary and Mount Hermon last Sunday with the Seniors, students and their friends completely filling both Sage Chapel and Memorial Chapel.

At Sage Chapel Principal Mira B. Wilson was the speaker. As the processional march was played by Marian Keller, the senior girls in their blue caps and gowns, marched down the aisles and took places in the center front of the chapel. Students and parents filled the remainder of the chapel. Miss Wilson took for her text, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he hath."

"A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he hath." It may seem very strange to you that I should select this text as a center for our thought this morning. As a school we represent homes of modest economic background.

Personally, I glory in that fact, and believe that it probably gives us a greater chance for happiness for a sound sense of values, and for achievement toward the cause of the kingdom of God on earth. Obviously, there is a point of financial limitation beyond which we must admit handicap rather than advantage. Most of us, however, have had plenty of dishes to wash, but no real experience with a shortage of food to be served on those dishes. And I believe people that grow up under such circumstances are to be congratulated.

"It may seem strange to you to talk about this subject where simplicity of life and the cooperative plan of living have been the order of the day in your years at Northfield seminary. We might describe ourselves as comparatively unaware of the pressure of possession of the expensive. In that our life is like that of the best schools and colleges—essentially democratic. At the risk of falling into personalities I should like to bear witness as one who worked her way part way through college by the time-honored method of waiting on tables that I never encountered a moment of social embarrassment arising from that. But even more than in the average school, Northfield seminary is interested in this basic attitude. You have all seen bare tables with plain white china on them, because table cloths and decorated china would have been pretty disastrous to our budget. But you have seen tasteful and correct service at those tables. We have all known the thrill of legitimate independence that comes from our ability to carry the great housekeeping project of this campus."

"What may seem strange to talk about this text to people who have been educated in an environment constantly created by the past and present leadership of this school to be simple and democratic. But as new alumni you are going out into a world where the distinctions that have been leveled here at school may be raised to barrier heights again."

"With these explanatory comments may I develop two major reasons why in the last opportunity I have to speak to the senior class of 1936, I want to stress Jesus' saying, 'A man's life consisteth not in abundance of things which he hath.'"

"Your schooling has covered the so-called depression years. I am loathe to see our nation lose any of the gains of those years (and I am sure there have been some). Europe's criticism of America has been devotion to the almighty dollar. I am inclined to think it was justifiable, but at the present it is less so."

"What is much more important, we have come to realize that wealth is not in the category of enduring factors. Jesus kept telling us this. It was what he meant by the deceitfulness of riches, by the collapse of the householder's plans in the parable. Jesus' enduring leadership for this century as for the first seems in part to have rested on this his disregard of such impermanent things as possession. His lack of established dwelling place, his seamless robe, his carpenter's proficiency endeared him to all now as then. And the same things were true of many of his most devoted and effective followers, notably St. Francis of

Commencement Of Seminary Students; 121 Are Graduated

Northfield seminary at its 53rd commencement Monday, graduated its largest class, 121 students receiving diplomas.

On the platform at the exercises at the Auditorium were the principal, Mira B. Wilson, Dr. Dalton F. McClelland, who made the invocation, and Chaplain Harold B. Ingalls, who gave the benediction. The graduates were dressed in blue gowns and caps and the other students were in white.

Principal Mira B. Wilson presented the diplomas. Before the presentation, Miss Wilson introduced the speaker of the day, Prof. John Macmurray.

At the beginning of the address Mr. Macmurray dwelt briefly upon the narrow horizons of his own student days in 1914 and pointed out how completely distant all thoughts of other countries were, and especially any thought of immediate war.

"I tell you all this," he said, "because of the kind of world you will be living in. You will find yourself caught up in events with an ever broadening horizon. Your generation is free as no other generation has been free. There are no limits to what you can do. It is, withal, a dangerous world but not an unpleasant one. You need courage, faith, and steadfast purpose."

"If I may venture a prophecy, it is that you will live to see the day when poverty will cease, when wars will be a thing of the past, and day of Christian cooperation will reign. This present age ranks beside the two great ages in the past; that of the Greek fifth century B. C. and the Renaissance. The present age is one of widening horizons, and you will need to live up to these increasing opportunities."

"Two rules of living that I have found useful, I should like to pass on to you. First, stop judging and try to understand. Second, form your own judgment for yourself. What most people think is very likely wrong."

"Finally, you need to base your faith, courage, and vision on God. The secret of a successful life is an abiding faith and courage and vision in the God expressed through Jesus Christ."

To Springfield With Haigis For Our Governor

Upon the eve of the Republican State convention at Springfield the interest of many in this town, in Franklin county and in the western part of Massachusetts is centering in the nomination of Mr. John W. Haigis of Greenfield for Governor. It is now proposed that as many Republicans as can go from Northfield under the banner of the Northfield Republican club participate in a parade and demonstration on Thursday evening, June 18. Meeting at the Auditorium at six o'clock the procession will proceed to the Hotel Kimball where it is expected they will be greeted by Mr. Haigis. Mr. Ambert G. Moody as president of the Northfield club and delegation will have charge of the affair and it is hoped to provide transportation for those not having cars. The cavalcade from here will probably start from the town hall at three o'clock.

If you are interested to join in the demonstration and can arrange to go get in touch with Mr. George W. Carr, Mr. George McEwan or Mr. Moody and they will furnish full particulars. All Republicans who are enthusiastic over the candidacy of Mr. Haigis and desire to show their loyalty should make an effort to go to Springfield.

On next Monday evening in the town hall at 8:00 o'clock there will be held a neighborhood meeting under the auspices of the Northfield Haigis-for-Governor club to which everyone is invited. Mr. A. G. Moody will preside and Mr. Albert E. Roberts and Mr. Charles Fairhurst are expected to speak. Let's all get out for a showing of our enthusiasm for Mr. Haigis' candidacy.

County Church Club Hears Duley Speak Of Missionaries

The Franklin County Congregational club held its spring meeting at the Northfield Hotel on Tuesday evening with over one hundred members in attendance. President Ambert G. Moody presided and a special musical program was rendered by a quartette consisting of Albert E. Roberts, Prof. I. J. Lawrence, Rev. Lester P. White and Harry A. Erickson. Mabel Worth rendered violin solos and Colena N. Leach who took the part of Buttercup in "Pinafore" at the Auditorium sang from the opera score of Joan of Arc. The accompanists were Marion Keller and Gladys Grindeland. The large dining room presented an inspiring sight with its decorations. The speakers' tables was occupied by officers of the society and guests. Nearly every town in Franklin County was represented.

The speaker was Prof. Frank L. Duley of Northfield seminary whose subject was of "The Imperishable Assets of Franklin County." He dealt with a number of missionaries who had gone out from this section, from Conway, Charlemont, Heath, Hawley, Goshen who have left a wonderful record of work and endeavor. He referred to Pliny Fisk of Shelburne; Levi Parsons of Goshen; Jonas King of Hawley; Henry G. Dwight of Conway; and William Goodell of Templeton. These men did a memorable work for the Christian faith in the near East, in Greece, in Turkey and in Bulgaria. Those present listened with eagerness to the splendid address.

It is apparent that the construction of a temporary bridge will be begun immediately at the site of the suspension bridge 2 miles above Brattleboro which bridge had been carried away by the flood. The bridge will be built on piles and a Boston contractor has the job. Machinery and materials have already arrived on the scene. When completed it will again afford motorists the opportunity to use the main highway to Chesterfield and Spofford Lake.

A tax rate of $22 the same as last year has been announced for Shelburne. This rate is the lowest in the county. The town of Monroe is second with a rate of $23.50.

Assisi and with his Lady Poverty as bride.

"There is one other major reason why I want to stress the saying of Christ in the text. Some of you may be commenting on it as a negative statement and one whose form is not constructive. In that case, perhaps what I am trying to say should be described as spade work. I believe it clears the ground for the great Christian virtues like love, the great Christian practices like prayer.

"First, the ground of our lives has to be gotten free of certain weeds. But assuming that some sensible weeding has been done, then the soil is freed and clear. Other values can fall into their proper places. If the abundance of things which we have is not the essential factor, then we can find values of more lasting character. We can find health and physical reserve and endurance. We can find books. Even the worldly-wise Franklin said, 'If a man empties his purse into his head, no man can take it away from him. An investment of knowledge always pays the best interest.' We can find the wealth of friendship. If the wedding has been well done we can find the treasure of congenial work. We can find God's presence in the life that leaves room for Him."

At Mount Hermon the seniors marched into the chapel with a processional tune, occupying their traditional seats in front. The pastor, Lester P. White, read the scriptures. Headmaster David R. Porter delivered the baccalaureate address. He said in part:

"The confusions of our day, so vast in extent, so devastating in social results, so bewildering to all of us as individuals, can never be dispelled by a frontal attack. That they must be dispelled no thoughtful person will deny. We cannot maintain even what remains of civilization without new clarity of thinking and new qualities of living. As a British statesman has said, 'the world is facing Christ or chaos.'"

"In other words, education must achieve a new purposiveness. We have in recent years given much attention to the process of education, greatly to our stimulation and refreshment. But process alone is not enough; we must ask 'process for what end?' What adequate purposes for all our new technique? How may our graduates be not only efficient but sufficient for the social demands of the nation today? Only one purpose, or end, is adequate. Long ago such a purpose was by the Master called the 'reign of God.' Education at its best and highest, education that best serves the nation therefore must be Christian education; must be in every phase of school life directed to train and inspire youth for the 'reign of God.' The fact that the separation of church and state in America makes such religious training impossible in state schools makes all the more significant the schools on independent foundations. As never before they must be true to their distinctive task. They must perform their unique social service. They must be rededicated to the central and indispensable purpose of truly Christian training.

"The danger and threat of the teachers oath bill in Massachusetts is that it may be a first step in placing a secondary loyalty, that to the political state, above a man's loyalty that to God Himself. In the long run, as the framers of the constitution clearly saw, the highest service to the state will be by those who have learned first and continuously to seek and obey the purpose of God."

Sunday was one of those beautiful days of which we have many in New England and the campus of both schools was filled with visitors and friends making the most of the last full day of school and awaiting the last assembly on the following morning for the graduation.

FORD V-8 ECONOMY MEANS

HIGH "Dollar Mileage"

(MORE MILES PER DOLLAR)

NO MATTER how you classify your expenditures for car up-keep—its your total expenditure that counts. How much "dollar mileage" is your car giving you?

Dollars do go farther in the Ford V-8. Modern improved carburetion gives you unusual gasoline mileage with brilliant V-8 performance. Most owners of today's Ford change oil only every 2000 miles and add none between changes.

And after the first few thousand miles you begin to understand what Ford V-8 "dollar mileage" really means.

It gives you more miles per dollar because it gives you all-round economy—low first cost, low up-keep cost, low depreciation and long life—as well as low gasoline and oil consumption. All these are big items if you aim to buy the most economical car.

It is not infrequent to hear motorists boast of the horsepower of their cars. Yet, I doubt if one out of ten motorists, picked at random, knows just what horsepower is, using the term only as a relative expression between a weak and a powerful motor.

Horsepower is a term defined in the science of mechanics as an engineering unit expressing the amount of effort required to lift 33,000 lbs. one foot in one minute.

The horsepower rating for an internal combustion engine is calculated by a definite formula which is the same for all cars but is based upon the figure mentioned. Using this arbitrary method of determining horsepower, all makes and models of automobiles are thus rated on an equal basis. Naturally, the greater the horsepower of an automobile engine, the more powerful this engine is. This in itself, however, is not a measure of speed or acceleration.

OPERATING a car with a slipping clutch is a serious mistake. Don't assume that this is a minor matter and neglect to give it any attention. As a matter of fact, a slipping clutch not only wastes power and fuel but imposes an unnecessary strain on the engine and should be remedied as soon as it is discovered. It can be caused by burned or worn clutch facings, a weak clutch spring or out-of-line shaft or by continual pedal pressure on the underside of the floor board or a lack of clearance between the fingers and the release plate.

It's a bad idea to "ride the clutch". The clutch pedal should be either all the way in or all the way out. The weight of the foot on the pedal is sometimes sufficient to slip the clutch on a hard or sudden pull. Learn to engage the clutch gradually and not throw it in suddenly with the engine racing. The clutch will last you a long while, and it will give you virtually no trouble if you take care of it.

Yes "Pinafore" Was A Great Show

"Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan, was presented last Saturday night in the auditorium by the combined Estey chorus and the Mt. Hermon Glee club before a crowded house of 2600 people. In complete costume and with a large orchestra the program began with a scene on board her majesty's ship "Pinafore." Melvin Gallagher, head of the music department of the Northfield Schools, conducted, and Robert Burdick directed the acting.

Leading members of the cast were George Davidson, the lord of the admiralty; Ralph A. Lyon, the captain; William R. Fiske, Ralph Backstraw; Robert G. VanPeursem, Dick Deadeye; Benjamin W. Letson, the boat-swain's mate; Elizabeth C. Bernheim, the captain's daughter; V. Jean McLaren, Hebe; Colena N. Leach, the Little Buttercup.

Every participant did his or her best and the performance was highly appreciated. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the show. It was a musical success and it is hoped that the production and its splendid results will mark the beginning of other similar events.

Besides Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Burdick, other members of the staff of directors were Grace Field, the dances; T. P. deGraf-fenried 2d, and Gordon F. Warwick, lighting; W. Weston Radford, properties; Mrs. Roy D. Peterson and Clarice E. Carpenter, orchestra; Marian Kellar and Gladys Grindeland, costumes; Robert W. Clark, manager of the scenery, and he had as helpers, Gilbert E. Adams, Charles G. Hall and Warren Rixon.

Hostelers To Visit Japan On Trip

Directors Monroe and Isabel Smith of the American Youths Hostel with headquarters in this town have just announced a trip to Japan for "hostelers." Already about thirty are enrolled for the pilgrimage. The party will leave Northfield June 20 for Seattle, and will sail from Seattle on July 17 on the Japanese liner the Heian for Yokohama. They will leave Japan for the return trip on September 2. Mrs. Isabel Smith will be the leader of the party. While in Japan bicycles will be provided for making the tour throughout the country. Toyohiko Kagawa, that great man of Japan who recently visited this country and spoke in the Auditorium at East Northfield, has promised cooperation to make the trip eventful and interesting.

Postmasters Are To Pay The Soldiers' Bonus

Postmasters of Franklin county towns will pay off the soldiers' bonus according to information received by Postmaster Kennedy of Greenfield from the Postoffice Department at Washington. Each bonus bond recipient will probably be required to remain at his mailing address on a designated night to receive the registered envelope containing the sum due him.

Under the announced payoff plan, for each $50 due, veterans will receive a $12.50 treasury check and a treasury bond worth $37.50 currently and $50 at maturity in 10 years. Both may be cashed following delivery at the postoffice upon presentation by the veteran, with two witness and proper identification.

Students Conference Meeting At Hermon

More than 300 young men representing the principal colleges and universities of the northeast assembled on the Mt. Hermon school campus Monday night for the opening session of the Northfield student conference which will continue until June 15. Special sessions have been set aside during the three closing days for a celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the conference by D. L. Moody and of the student volunteer movement which developed from the original gathering. It is the opening session of the Northfield summer conference season.

Prof. John Macmurray of the University of London will be one of the principal speakers during the first four days of the Student conference, his addresses being an interpretation of the Christian faith for modern times. Among the other speakers are Dr. Robert E. Speer of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions and Dr. G. Sherwood Eddy world traveler and author, both of whom were leaders of the student volunteer movement in the early days. The conference chairman is Dr. George Stewart of Stamford, Ct., well known youth leader.

Delegates to the early conferences have been invited to attend the commemorative sessions especially the closing meeting Sunday evening which will be held on Round Top, the wooded knoll on the Northfield seminary campus where D. L. Moody is buried.

Twenty-two colleges of New England and New York state are represented by the students who are in attendance. William Kitchen of Boston is the executive secretary of the conference.

Frozen Coffee Cubes Insure Full Refreshing Flavor in Iced-Coffee

Prevents Diluting of Flavor. Many Housewives Keep Tray of Coffee Cubes in Refrigerator During Summer Months.

HAVE you ever used frozen coffee in place of the usual ice cubes or chipped ice, when serving iced-coffee? It is one way to prevent loss of the full refreshing flavor in this popular summer beverage which might otherwise happen because of the ice diluting the drink.

Frozen coffee cubes not only add a decorative touch to your coffee service but will cause your family or guests to enjoy this universal drink more than ever before.

Many housewives list iced-coffee as one of their favorite summer beverages because of its ease of preparation, the fact that it goes well with any meal and can be made from staple supplies which are always on hand in every kitchen. Iced-coffee makes an excellent summer drink especially because of its invigorating qualities.

In preparing iced-coffee, make it in the same manner as you would the coffee for every meal, using the usual proportions of coffee and water. Be sure the coffee you use is fresh. In order to obtain the finest flavor. Vacuum packed coffee in resealable glass jars is a sure way to insure freshness of coffee. The beverage should be placed in a refrigerator and allowed to chill. Fill one or two ice trays with coffee and allow them to freeze. When serving iced-coffee, pour it into tall glasses and add several frozen coffee cubes to each glass.

If coffee ice cubes are not used, prepare the coffee double strength, and while still hot pour over crushed ice to cool. Sugar syrup and cream should be served as accompaniments to this beverage. A tip for housewives to remember in preparing cooling drinks is to prepare a simple sugar syrup for use in sweetening the drink. It reduces the amount of sugar needed because it mixes thoroughly with the beverage and does not settle at the bottom of the glass as is often the case when sugar is used.

Travelers Checks for Travelers Risks

If you are planning a trip for your summer vacation, your first thought should be for relaxation and enjoyment during that period. Loss or theft of your money can do much to destroy the pleasures you have so eagerly anticipated.

Instead of the risky practice of carrying around large sums in actual cash, or the embarrassment of attempting to cash personal checks away from home, we suggest the use of travelers checks. They are economical, safe, and readily acceptable anywhere. Furthermore, if lost or stolen a refund may be obtained. Let us supply you with these convenient checks before starting the long-awaited trip.

Miss Lois Alberta Wilkinson and Miss Margaret O'Keefe Gallagher of Northfield, Miss Verna Rena Mayberry and Miss Caroline Lee Smith of Mount Hermon, and Miss Alice V. Schaufus of Bernardston, graduated from Northfield seminary last Monday morning.

The Northfield baseball team trounced the Warwick CCG team at the Hotel grounds Friday evening of last week by a score of 17 to 5. It was a great game and lasted for two hours. Shearer was the pitcher for Northfield and he proved to be too much for the Warwick team.

Former Congresswoman Jeanette Rankin of Montana, the first woman to be elected to the National House, has been engaged as a member of the faculty for the fifth annual New England Institute of International Relations to be held at Wellesley college, June 23 to July 3, under the auspices of the American Friends' Service Committee and the Congressional Council for Social Action.

The "Moblil" blimp visited Northfield early Monday afternoon and since it was the first of its kind to be seen here, many turned out to get a view of it as it was flying quite low. It had come down from Brattleboro along the Connecticut and headed for the Seminary campus after which it followed the main highway to the south and out of sight.

The members of the Ladies' Circle of the Union Church at Vernon of which the Rev. E. E. Jones of Northfield seminary is pastor will again serve this year their annual strawberry supper this Friday evening beginning at six o'clock. It is expected that many friends from here will attend.

The weather since May 18th has been quite dry and without rain and conditions are now assuming the proportion of a long continued drought. Vegetation is suffering for a needed rainfall and many of the smaller brooks in this vicinity are running very little water.

When Lawrence S. Quinlan went as delegate to the Democratic State Convention at Springfield last week he cast his vote for the nomination of Governor on the Democratic ticket to Lt. Governor Joseph L. Hurley. The vote of the County delegates was Charles F. Hurley 13, Joseph L. Hurley 10, and Paul A. Dever 1.

The Northfield baseball team defeated the Brattleboro Rawlings team on the hotel grounds Monday evening by the score of 12-4. Northfield made 13 hits while Brattleboro collected 8. The batteries for Northfield were Shearer and C. Glazier and Whitcomb and Blanche for Brattleboro.

The Greenfield Rotary club held its regular weekly session this week at the Northfield Hotel on Wednesday. Dinner was served at six o'clock but many of the members had spent the whole afternoon on the grounds in golf and other sports. After the dinner Mr. Albert Roberts gave a talk on the Indiana farmer.

On Wednesday evening of last week a surprise shower was tendered to Miss Marion Leach at the Sunset Inn in honor of her approaching marriage. The af-

Commencement Of High And Grammar Schools Of Town

Events are crowding down upon us in educational lines and now the dates and programs for the Promotion Exercises of the Grammar schools and the graduation of the Senior class of the high school are named and ready. Promotion day for the Eighth grade will be held this Friday evening in the town hall at eight o'clock and a very attractive program has been arranged. Class Day for the High School students will be held next Wednesday evening, June 17 in the town hall and on Friday evening, June 19, will be held the ceremonies of graduation of the senior class. Seniors will receive their diplomas and start into the world anew to solve their varying problems of life. Dr. Paul D. Moody, now President of Middlebury college, will deliver the commencement address.

The alumni of the Northfield High School also plan their meeting, banquet and dance at this period and on Thursday evening, June 18 the annual alumni dance will be held in the town hall. This promises to be an unusual affair and those who their tickets at once as none are intended to dance should secure sold at the door. See their advertisement on the first page of this issue.

The annual alumni banquet to the senior class will be held at the Valley Vista Inn on Saturday evening, June 20, at 7:00 o'clock and a fine menu will be served. Prof. H. H. Morse will be the dinner guest and speaker. The usual business meeting will follow the dinner.

A fair was arranged by Miss Barbara Cota and Miss Beryl James and was attended by a large number of friends. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed a delightful time. Miss Leach was presented with several gifts.

The arrival of two large truck loads of furniture in town last week which had come over the road from Taneytown, Md., was the evidence to the fact that Rev. T. T. Brown and his family had come to Northfield for permanent residence. Some two years ago they purchased the Dr. Newton residence on Main street.

In Probate Court at Greenfield last week the will of Gertrude Bemis Ritter, late of Northfield, was allowed with Thomas Scofield Ritter as administrator.

Constable Harry M. Haskell has been designated by the Selectmen as Dog Officer under the law to dispose of all unlicensed dogs. Dog owners who have not secured a license should do so at once and save both trouble and expense.

The Garden club will hold its next regular session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lazelle on Glenwood avenue next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting will be preceded by a basket picnic and strawberries and cream will be on sale. This is the first of a series of outdoor meetings and inspection of private gardens for this summer.

The auction sale of household goods at the residence of A. H. Mattoon on Main street on Wednesday brought a goodly crowd of buyers and everything offered was sold at fair prices. Mr. J. W. Field was the auctioneer.

Got His Man

Back in May, 1933 a salesman walked into the store of Miller and Burnett, now William D. Miller, and purchasing some paint gave a check for cashing. From the proceeds of the check the paint was paid for but the buyer disappeared leaving the paint. The check was returned from the bank with the notation "no account here," and the traveling salesman had not been seen since, until his presence was discovered at Shelburne last week.

He was Raymond Clafin of Springfield and Mr. William D. Miller with Deputy Sheriff Darby went over to "get their man." He was brought before District Court Monday morning and pleaded guilty to the larceny of $15 from Miller and Burnett at the Northfield store on May 18, 1933. Clafin who has been in various jails since being committed to the Wethersfield Conn. state prison in June 1933 admitted he had cashed eight bad checks in this state and 12 in Connecticut, all about the same time.

The defendant was brought from Northampton where, Saturday, he received suspended sentences amounting to six months. In view of the time he has served and the fact that he has a family to support, Judge Ball decided to file the case here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Porter have a son, Norman Alvin, born last Friday at the home of the parents near the Northfield Hotel.

Miss Mary Breinig, who is a student at Mass. State college at Amherst returned home on Monday but left the following day for Yarmouth, Cape Cod, where she will be engaged in special work during the summer season.

A Good Recipe

In our issue of May 22nd, we published an interesting article by a former student of Northfield Seminary, who while a guest at "Kenholm" on Highland avenue, became enthusiastic over a real New England dinner of "corned beef and cabbage." A representative of the Press called upon Mrs. Kendrick in whose home the young student stayed and she remembers her very well. When asked as to the recipe which created such a favorable impression upon the mind and appetite of the young lady, Mrs. Kendrick said the recipe credited to her was alright and now many can try out the excellence of it:

- 4 pounds corned beef
- 1 small cabbage, quartered
- 3 carrot, quartered
- 6 medium sized onions
- 6 small parsnips
- 6 potatoes
- 2 small turnips.

Wash the beef in cold water and if very salty, soak in cold water for 30 minutes. Drain. Place meat in boiling water and cook from 3 to 4 hours or until tender. One and a half hours before serving, add the cabbage, carrots and turnips. Half an hour before serving add the onions, parsnips and potatoes. Place attractively on a large platter and serve.

An error has been made in publishing previously the list of the General Conference committee at Northfield. The correct membership is Dr. Paul D. Moody chairman, John R. Mott, Wilfred W. Fry, Dr. David R. Porter and Dr. Boynton Merrill.

Mr. James McRoberts and Mrs. William J. McRoberts of Brooklyn have returned to Northfield for a stay and are at the Northfield Hotel.

Alumnae Day

Alumnae Day was celebrated last Saturday at the Northfield seminary with 400 visiting alumnae, the 50th anniversary of the class of 1886, the presentation of the seat by the class of 1896 and the alumnae parade preceding the luncheon.

Three members of the 50th anniversary class, 1886, or 50 percent of the living members, were in attendance. These were Mrs. Josephine Alexander Webster, East Northfield; Miss Sarah Harlow, New York City; and Rosabelle Temple of Boston.

The 45th reunion class, 1891, was present with 8 members. Among them were Mrs. Ambert G. Moody of East Northfield, Harriet A. Broad of Brookline, alumnae member of the board of trustees and Mrs. Annette Sturgis, a member of the Seminary faculty.

The feature of the 40th reunion class, 1896, was the presentation by them of a memorial seat in memory of the class teacher, Mrs. Adeline Pettee Cook, who died in 1900. The seat is located at the top of the rise near the athletic field, and was officially accepted by Principal Mira B. Wilson. Mrs. Geo. D. Pettee, a brother of Mrs. Cook made a few remarks and chaplain Harold B. Ingalls made a prayer. Seven members from the class of 1896 attended the reunion. Among the seven were: Marion Ballou Feske and Mrs. John Nichols, both of Florida.

The class of 1901 held its 35th reunion. In this group was Lucy Curtiss of Bridgeport, Ct., an alumnae trustee. The class of 1906 was present for its 30th reunion; the class of 1911 for its 25th had 8; the class of 1916, for its 20th reunion had 9; the class of 1921 for its 15th reunion had 8; the class of 1926 for its 10th had 9; the class of 1931 for its 5th had 19; and the class of 1935 for its first reunion had 31. Many other alumnae who did not graduate were present, enjoying a special reunion at The Homestead.

Speakers at the alumnae luncheon were: presiding officer, Mrs. Edwin Chaffin, '03, of Worcester, president of the alumnae association; Rosabel Temple of Boston, head of the music department at Cushing Academy; Jane Clark, president of the graduating class this year, gave special greetings to the class of 1886; Juliette Ober, New York City; Belle Polhemus Clark, Washington, D. C.; Rachel Gross, Philadelphia; Lillian MacDonald of the Seminary; and Principal Mira B. Wilson.

Prizes Awarded

Special exercises for the awarding of annual prizes were held at Northfield seminary last week Thursday preceding the scheduled opening of commencement. In addition to the individual awards West Gould Hall was presented with the Inter-dormitory Competitive Scholarship trophy awarded annually to the dormitory attaining the highest general average scholarship.

The individual prizes were as follows:

The Scott Prizes, established in 1914 by Col. Walter Scott, awarded for the greatest improvement during the year in penmanship went to Margaret Dayton of Milton, Mass., and Lucille J. Carle of Belle Harbor, N. Y.

The Shaffer Bible prizes, established by Mrs. Catherine E. Shaffer in 1920, awarded for excellence and effort in Bible work were won by Mary B. Hall, Oneonta, N. Y., Barbara L. Witter, Rochester, N. Y., and Elizabeth F. Voorhis of New York City.

The Washington-Franklin medal for excellence in United States History, given by the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, went to Lora P. MacLeod of Haddam, Ct.

The Domestic Work prize for excellence in domestic work was awarded to Augusta Roeser of Philadelphia.

The Mary Eleanor Fry prize of $200, established in 1931 by Mrs. Wilfred W. Fry, wife of the president of the Board of Trustees of the Northfield Schools, awarded each year to a member of the graduating class who has contributed the influence of a sterling character as well as good ability to the life of the school and who gives promise of a career of genuine usefulness, was awarded to Marion McClelland of White Plains, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Guthrodt and Mrs. Margaret Clickner, all of Troy, N. Y., were week-end guests of the Newton's-Griggs families.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Chauncey Newton have returned from a week's vacation along the Maine coast. Miss Beatrice Newton of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baine of Greenfield accompanied them.

Homer Carne has returned to his home on Birnam road after finishing his year's study at Wheaton college.

Mrs. William Chase left New York by steamer for Europe last Saturday where she will spend the summer at the estate of a friend in Ireland.

Miss Dean and Miss Calder of Brookline will occupy the Williams apartment on Main street for the summer. Mrs. Lillian Woodward who makes her home with them will accompany them on the stay here.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Caroline Loman Zink daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler B. Zink of Portsmouth, Va., to Glenn Graden McIntyre at Portsmouth on Monday, June 1. Miss Zink is well known in Northfield for she has spent several summers here as guest of her aunt Mrs. Jennie Forman at her home on Main St.

Miss Louise Stanley of Highland avenue received the degree of bachelor of arts at the graduation exercises at Mt. Holyoke college Monday. Miss Stanley was graduated from the seminary and at Holyoke has majored in Economics and Sociology. She was chairman of the vocational committee at Holyoke the past year. She expects soon to take a position with the Jordan Marsh Co. in Boston.

SOUTH VERNON

Services will be held in the Vernon Chapel next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock (d.s.t.) All are invited.

A card party will be held at the South Schoolhouse next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. and Mrs. B. D. Tibbetts of Loudon Ridge, N. H., visited Rev. and Mrs. Gray this week. With Mrs. Gray they will attend the Advent Christian conference at Aurora, Ill. They are official delegates of their churches.

The Children's concert at the Advent church will be given on Sunday, June 21, instead of the 14th as previously mentioned.

The girls of the 4-H Lotus club gave a very fine entertainment at the Pond school last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. William Derrig participated on the program. Several readings were given by R. E. Bruce, Mrs. R. E. Bruce, Miss Julia Cheney, Henry Frost and Mrs. Mary Cowles.

E. W. Dunklee and A. A. Dunklee attend the State Agricultural meeting at Amherst last Tuesday.

EDITORIAL

Our type of government, commonly called capitalistic, was adopted by our fathers in good faith. They believed we'd give it a fair trial. But on account of the looters and spoilers, we haven't done that. We've been compelled to get along in this country in spite of the looters and spoilers and have done a fair job of it. Before the so-called capitalistic system is junked, I'd like to see it tried out on a fair basis once.

If the Republican party this week selects Governor Alfred M. Landon as its standard bearer, he will conduct a vigorous assault against the Roosevelt policies, with no pussyfooting. The Landonites have made it plain that they are prepared, if Landon is the nominee, for a clear-cut fight against the policies now in the saddle at Washington.

An advertisement of a large distillery concern in our daily press reads: "We who make whiskey suggest: 'say no, when it's one drink too many.'" To most of us one drink is "one drink too many" and we don't take it—we say "no," but to the poor fellow who usually takes the "one drink" with probably an extra one thrown in, he becomes unable to "say no." Will somebody tell us who is to act in his behalf and become his mental sponsor when it comes to "one drink too many"?

The Back Yard Gardener

This man Hoover, head of the G-Men may be doing a good job on the public enemies, but he doesn't have anything on me when it comes to getting rid of the public enemies of my roses, peonies, cannas, and other flowers. I never get a chance to visit my neighbors to see whether they have any pests because I am too busy getting rid of my own. It seems to me that all the pests are cooperating against me which makes me think of a definition of cooperation that I heard the other day. Cooperation is like a bunch of bananas, as long as you stick to the bunch you're all right, but as soon as you get off by yourself you get skinned.

I find that one of the best ways to control pests is to keep my flowers and shrubs well fertilized. Plants are just the same as human beings. If they are strong and healthy, they can stave off pests much more easily. The second point is to use your pruning shears and keep the diseased and dead material cut out and burned. Any leaves that show signs of diseases or insects should be immediately clipped and burned.

Insects, as you know, are of two general types—the kind that chew and the kind that suck. When a chewing insect gets through with a leaf, it looks as though it had been peppered with shot or as though it is a new type of lace someone is designing. Insects of this type are generally controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead. If you want to use a spray on vegetables, I'd suggest that you use calcium arsenate since the lead leaves a deposit which is poisonous. And of course some caution must be used in keeping this arsenate of lead out of reach of children and animals.

Sucking insects, on the other hand, are those which produce no visible evidence of injury. You'll find them on the soft growing tips of the plants where they bore in just like mosquitos and suck themselves full of the juices from the plant. Then the first thing you know the plant commences to wilt and the damage is pretty well along.

These sucking insects, however, are quite easily controlled by the use of nicotine sulfate and soap. Always be sure to use plenty of soap because this makes the nicotine stick to the body of the insect.

There is another type of insect which you have to be watching for, and that is the kind that eats its way through the various parts of the plant. About the only thing that you can do once these get started is to cut out and burn all the infested portions.

Last week we were talking about iris and this is one plant that is attacked by one of these boring insects. When a slimy muscilage-like substance appears around the base of a clump of iris leaves, just open the leaves back and you can usually find a pinkish gray cutworm-like borer. Then if you follow my suggestions, you'll just take him out and step on him.

These borers usually leave some evidence of their work and if you take a nice sharp knife you can split open the stalk and usually find Mr. Borer.

Of course included in this group of garden public enemies are the disease, but I guess I'd better leave the discussion of the diseases until a later date. One suggestion that I'd like to make is that, if you haven't cut off the blossoms of your lilac bushes, you do so at once. These blossom heads would simply develop into seed and there is no sense having the plant waste its energy making seeds when it should be making new growth. Cut these blossoms back to the first leafy shoot, and you'll be surprised at how much better your lilac bushes will be next year.

A Fine Compliment To "Our Printer"

When the ill-fated Northfield Printing Company unwisely breathed its last, there was issued at the plant several publications, one The Herald and four school papers. Mr. Henry R. Gould, who had been manager of the concern moved to Athol and associated himself with the Transcript Press. The school publications followed him. There were four and another has been added to the list. He is also "our printer" for The Northfield Press, the excellence of the work being most noticeable. But while many compliments have been passed his way it remained for The Hermonite in its last issue to comment in the following words:

"This ends the fourth year that Mr. Henry R. Gould has been printing the Hermonite. He is the man who pulls the ropes backstage, and who has to get our paper out on time every issue without fail and in spite of countless inconveniences. The constant improvement in the paper can be partially attributed to his efforts. A paper is only as good as its printer."

All the school papers now being printed by Mr. Gould have been entered in School Publications Contests and all at various times have been winners of meritorious awards.

Bible Conferences Are Jubilee Features

Unusual interest shown by pastors in the One-Day Bible Conferences to be held throughout the country during 1936 and 1937, under the auspices of the D. L. Moody Centenary and Moody Bible Institute Jubilee.

In fact, many clergymen are already arranging for One-Day Bible Conferences to be held in their churches, it being their expressed opinion that it is one of the most attractive plans of the entire Jubilee.

D. L. Moody, it is recalled, was the originator of the Bible Conference movement in America, one of his first announcements of the plan being made in his Chicago meetings of 1876, ten years before the Bible Institute here was founded by him. Mr. Moody prophesied that the revival of the 20th century would be a Bible awakening.

Features of the One-Day Bible Conferences are the Moody Centenary Song Book, containing 72 Moody and Sankey favorites, which is furnished gratis; and the pamphlet, "How to Eat the Word," by Dr. James M. Gray. Usually a neighboring pastor is asked to speak at the afternoon session. A supper conference is suggested, and two Bible lectures are given by a member of the Institute Faculty or Extension Staff.

Mr. Moody advocated Bible reading and short prayers. A revival of Bible study and brief prayers usually follows a One-Day Bible Conference and, sooner or later, the windows of heaven are opened in spiritual blessing. Such an awakening always solves the incidental problems of the church.

The Bible for children, with the big words and difficult passages simplified and written by R. W. Lewis of Siloam Springs, Ark., will be put to a test when the Gospel of John is issued in the new form. Mr. Lewis has been engaged on the work for thirty years and was a former Dean of the John Brown College. He hopes for a favorable reception of the new work and will issue the New Testament in a first volume.

POET'S CORNER

MEMORIAL DAY

The finest tribute we can pay
Unto our hero dead to-day,
Is not a rose wreath, white and red,
In memory of the blood they shed;

It is to stand beside each mound,
Each couch of consecrated ground,
And pledge ourselves as warriors true
Unto the work they died to do.

Into God's valleys where they lie
At rest, beneath the open sky
Triumphant now o'er every foe,
As living tributes let us go.
No wreath of rose or immortelles
Or spoken word or tolling bells
Will do to-day, unless we give
Our pledge that liberty shall live.

Our hearts must be the roses red
We place above our hero dead;
To-day beside their graves we must
Renew allegiance to their trust;
Must bare our heads and humbly say
We hold the flag as dear as they,

And stand, as once they stood,
To die
To keep the Stars and Stripes on high.

The finest tribute we can pay
Unto our hero dead to-day
Is not of speech or roses red,
But living, throbbing hearts instead,
That shall renew the pledge
They sealed
With death upon the battlefield:
That freedom's flag shall bear
No stain
And free men wear no tyrant's chain. —Edgar A. Guest

CATHEDRAL OF THE SOUL
I've a little place of yearning;
Just a little hall of fame,
It's a place I'm oft returning,
To inscribe another name.
There I keep my list of friends—
Some, I oft times must remove Pleasures framed in work and hardship,
Every memory has its groove.

Here I keep my rarest treasures
Nothing enters that is bad
Although with my sweetest pleasures,
By their side is something sad.
Life is hard where ere one finds it,
And yet, in my hall of fame
There is none there who would mind it,
None who would not play the game.

In this secret, hidden fortress;
You have guessed it from the start,
I am King—with none to witness
Uncrowned ruler of my heart. —New Era

SOMEWHERE A WOMAN

Somewhere a woman, thrusting fear away,
Faces the future bravely for your sake,
Toils on from dawn till dark,
from day to day,
Fights back her tears, nor heeds the bitter ache;
She loves you, trusts you,
breathes in prayer your name—
Soil not her faith in you by sin or shame.

Somewhere a woman—mother, sweetheart, wife—
Waits betwixt hopes and fears for your return;
Her kiss, her words will cheer
you in the strife
When death itself confronts you, grim and stern.
But let her image all your reverence claim,
When base temptations scorch
you with their flame.

Somewhere a woman watches, thrilled with pride—
Shrined in her heart, you share a place with none;
She toils, she waits, she prays,
till side by side
You stand together when the light is done.
Oh, keep for her dear sake
a stainless name,
Bring back to her a manhood
free from shame. —Anon
